1 SEC. 104. EFFECT OF ORDERS SERVED ON THIRD-PARTY
2 ENTITIES.

3 (a) RELIEF LIMITED TO SCOPE OF VIOLATION.—

4 (1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2)—

5 (A) in any case in which only a specifically
6 identified portion of an Internet site is identi-
7 fied by the court as a foreign infringing site or 8 as an Internet site dedicated to theft of U.S.
9 property, and made subject to an order under 10 paragraph (5) of section 102(b) or 103(b), the 11 relief granted under such paragraph, and the 12 obligations of any entity served with a copy of 13 an order under section 102(c) or 103(c), shall 14 be confined to that specified portion so identi-
15 fied and made subject to the order; and

16 (B) nothing in the order shall be inter-
17 preted to impose obligations on any entity
18 served with a copy of the order with respect to

1           any other portion of an Internet site not speci-
2           fied in the order.

3           (2) PRESERVATION OF LIMITATION.—Para-
4           graph (1) shall not affect the obligations, safe har-
5           bor, limitations, or rule of construction as set forth
6           in subparagraph (A) of section 102(c)(2), and the 7           actions as described in that subparagraph taken in 8           response to service of a court order issued under sec-
9           tion 102(c)(5) shall be deemed to comply with such 10          court order and entitled to the defenses and limita-
11          tions on liability and suit provided in this title or 12          any other law, regardless of whether such order
13          identifies or specifies only a portion of an Internet
14          site.
